Gus Malzahn Call Sheet

A common theme in Gus Malzahn's offense is stretching the defense horizontally with wide receiver screens. A common one is throwing the screen to the backside wide receiver in a 3x1 set. Whenever the cornerback is playing far enough off of that backside receiver, this play call can get the ball into the hands of a playmaker in space.

At some point between Auburn Head Coach Gus Malzahns time at Tulsa in 2009 and now, one of his play call sheets made its way out there. The call sheet was attributed to Herb Hand, who is now the Oline/Run game coordinator at Penn State. It gives a look at his playcalling style and the process involved in game planning.

Hog Xs and Os: Malzahn Play Calling

Gus Malzahn returned to Auburn as the program's head coach in 2013. His Tigers went 12-2 that season, winning the SEC title and coming within a play of winning the national title. Malzahn called plays with offensive coordinator Rhett Lashlee at his side, and all was right with the world. That arrangement continued through 2014 [...]

The back of the call sheet was our 2 point chart and kill-the-clock charts. The second epiphany happened a couple of weeks later. During the first drive of our first district ball game, or QB pulls a zone read, goes for 12 yards, and separates the AC joint in his throwing shoulder requiring surgery the next week.

I have to do this for 7 on 7, 9 on 7, and Team for the entire week. That's a lot of work. Plus, I have to get a call sheet ready for Friday that has all of these plays readily accessible. Once it's done, it's great, but it takes a lot of prep to do it well. MY VERDICT ON WRISTBANDS FOR NO HUDDLE COMMUNICATION:
